INDIA WELCOMES YOU

History & Culture: India's history goes back almost six thousand years and has passed through many different stages and societies and invasion from outside. Each region of the nation has its own separate history. Named after the river Indus, it is heir to one of the world's oldest and richest civilizations and the origin of many of the ideas, philosophies and movements that has shaped the destiny of human kind. One can broadly define different periods of influences in the history of this land, many of which overlap each other. They are classified according to ancient, medieval, British and modern period. India is a vast land of rich cultural heritage. Its arts and crafts, music and dance, architecture and people all make it one of the world's most vibrant nation.

Religions: India as a 'land of religions' is that it is the birthplace of several major world religions. It is home to Hinduism, Islam, Christianity, Jainism, Sikhism and several other religious traditions. Hinduism , the dominant faith, is practiced by over 80% of the population. For the majority of Indians, religion permeates every aspect of life, from daily chores to education and politics.

Geography: India shares border to the northwest with Pakistan, to the north with China, Nepal and Bhutan and to the east with Bangladesh and Myanmar. To the west lies the Arabian Sea, to the east the Bay of Bengal and to the south the Indian Ocean. Sri Lanka lies off the southeast coast and the Maldives off the south west coast. The far northeastern states and territories are all but separated from the rest of India by Bangladesh as it extends northwards from the Bay of Bengal towards Bhutan. The Himalayan mountain range to the north and the Indus River (west) and Ganges River (east) form a physical barrier between India and the rest of Asia.

Weather: India has three major seasons: summer, winter and rainy season or the monsoon. The summer months (April-June) are hot in most parts of India. This is the season to visit the summer hill resorts. The winter months (November-March) are pleasant throughout India with bright sunny days. Winter is most severe in the northern plains and in the foothills of Himalayas while the south-eastern and the western zones remain pleasantly cool. The monsoon breaks at the beginning of June on the southwest coast and gradually break at all parts of the country except south - eastern areas. These areas receive most of the rainfall between mid-October to end December.

Clothing: Casual wear is suitable for travel in India. Light cottons are recommended from spring to autumn. In winter however you will need warm clothing and preferably a wind cheater. Early morning and late evenings are very cold in Rajasthan and few parts of northern India in winters. Society across the sub-continent is still deeply religious and steeped in tradition. Rural India, in particular, is very conservative. It is important to dress modestly to avoid offending local sensibilities and also (especially for women) to avoid being the target of unwanted attention. However, western dresses are common in big and metro cities.

Passports and Visas: All travelers to India (except nationals of Bhutan and Nepal) must possess a valid passport to enter the country. Similar to this all foreign nationals (except Bhutan, Nepal and Bangladesh) must require a valid visa. Interested travelers to India must contact Indian Consulate for necessary visa. However, Visas on arrival are extended to few countries (check with Indian embassy at your country). Special permits are required for travelers who want to visit restricted areas. Normally permits can be issued to groups and for limited number of days. For further information Indian missions in particular country can be contacted.

Entry Ports: There are few designated airports in India. Delhi, Amritsar in north, Chennai, Bangalore, Hyderabad, Cochin & Trivandrum in south, Mumbai, Ahmadabad & Goa in west and Kolkata in east. These cities in India can be used as the entry-exit ports by Air.

Luxury Trains

History of luxury train traveling in India dated back to the days of British Raj and introduction of railways in India. Born into royalty and adorned with rubies and jewels, maharajas of India were certainly a breed apart from their counterparts. Vying with each other to create the most luxurious carriages, the maharajas installed salons and billiard rooms, private suites, and even air conditioning - made from electric fans that blew air over blocks of ice. If one maharaja gifted his son a personal narrow gauge toy train to celebrate his birthday, others were content in miniature rail carriages made of silver to ferry cuisines and drinks on the sprawling dining table during royal feasts.

An array of luxury trains operates on different routes and offers a manifestation of kaleidoscope of India. Each of these opulent luxury train tours have been designed to provide best of the traditional and the contemporary. These tourist trains provide whirlwind tour across some of the most enthralling destinations in India and are one of the most effective ways to discover the untold wealth of this country.

Interiors of these luxury trains recreate the elegance and affluence of the personal cabins of erstwhile Maharajas of India whereas the contemporary amenities and impeccable service ensure that a lavish stay akin to 5 star hotels is offered on board these cruise trains. The itineraries of these trains are meticulously planned to bring out diverse colors, rich heritage and vibrant culture of India and illumine and enrich the guests when it comes to irresistible allure of Incredible India. Enjoy some of the best rail journeys of world courtesy Indian luxury trains.
